St. Lucia's newest adults-only resort, Serenity at Coconut Bay, offers guests the option of dining in an impressive 12 restaurants – nine at neighboring sister resort Coconut Bay Beach Resort & Spa, as well as the exclusive on-property restaurant The Greathouse.

The chef (and former singer) is loved for the flavorful Creole cuisine she served at her popular Vieux Fort restaurant, which she recently closed, planning to retire. But she was convinced by management to lend her culinary talents to Serenity's Greathouse, where, as of October 1, guests will be able to enjoy the true flavors of the island in the elegant intimacy of the restaurant's private dining room.

At an exclusive event on Sunday night CJ sampled her signature spread – a bountiful presentation of local side dishes including fried okra; breadfruit balls; curried pumpkin calacari; eggplant au gratin; and caramelized sweet potato with laced with cinnamon and nutmeg – all accompanied, just as it was at Auntie Debbie's restaurant, by heaping platters of cooked-to-perfection protein (chicken, fish and beef).

And while we can't guarantee that Serenity guests will be treated, as we were, to a rousing impromptu after-dinner concert, we're confident that they'll leave Auntie Debbie's dinners delighted with this unique and authentic taste of St. Lucia.
